Dunn Carrier Joins Elite Team Of Safe Drivers

Officer-in-Charge Tim Drees joins District Manager Angela Curtis in recognizing Rural Carrier Algie "Wayne" Edwards for more than 30 years of accident-free driving.

Rural Carrier Algie "Wayne" Edwards doesn't believe in wasting time. Edwards likes to get in the office and out to his route, especially during the 'dog days' of August. The Dunn carrier had to slow down recently so he could receive a milestone achievement.

District Manager Angela Curtis visited the Dunn Post Office to present Edwards with the National Safety Council's Million Mile Award. Edwards, who has achieved nearly 34 years of safe driving, said he didn't mind the wait for such a prestigious award. "Safety is important to me, and I take it seriously." Edwards says each work day is filled with obstacles and potential dangers. "I've had to move out the way too many times to count, but I've managed to do it safely."

Officer-in-Charge Tim Drees says Edwards is a model employee. "He's a good carrier, and he takes care of his customers. He's one of the best!"

Curtis thanked Edwards for his commitment to safety and congratulated him for an exemplary safety record.
