

National Safety Council

Position/Policy Statement

Ignition Interlocks

The National Safety Council recognizes that ignition interlocks are proven effective in reducing drunk driving and encourages states to enact legislation to require ignition interlocks for all convicted drunk drivers.

This position statement reflects the opinions of the National Safety Council but not necessarily those of each member organization.

Approved, September 20, 2008