

Help us recognize the next Rising Stars of Safety

The National Safety Council has developed the Rising Stars of Safety program to shine a light on the up-and-coming safety stars in your organization. You are encouraged to nominate individuals younger than 40 for consideration in the NSC Rising Stars of Safety Class of 2016.

SOME DETAILS:

- Nominees must have a proven track record of demonstrating leadership in their organization's safety culture and promoting continuous safety improvement in the workplace
- Anyone from any organization can be nominated, including employees working abroad
- Only ONE applicant per organization may be chosen as a Rising Star, so put your best candidate forward

On April 1, you can access the 2016 form online at nsc.org/risingstarsofsafety.

Completed applications must be submitted by May 13, 2016.

"The safety movement is fueled by new ideas, new insights and new leaders. Each class of NSC Rising Stars is a down payment on saving lives and preventing injuries in workplaces around the world."
