

Distracted Driving, Then & Now

Congress designated April as Distracted Driving Awareness Month in 2010.

Handheld cell phone use by drivers has declined slightly in the past 10 years, from 4.9% to 3.2%.

The goal is zero cell phone use by drivers.

48 states plus D.C. have enacted texting bans for all drivers. Handheld cell phone use is illegal for all drivers in 24 states plus D.C.

We have made progress but there is still a long way to go.
Let's make distracted driving a thing of the past.
