

Alive at 25, 3rd Edition

Some young adults believe that they are invincible and that nothing bad will ever happen to them. The Alive at 25[®] program from the National Safety Council addresses the number one cause of death for drivers between the ages of 15-24: motor vehicle crashes. Alive at 25 shows young drivers how to take greater responsibility for their driving behavior. This highly interactive course can help keep them from becoming another statistic. In a recent United States study, the Alive at 25 program reduced fatalities among drivers between the ages of 15 and 24 by 23% compared to the previous year.

Course description

This four-hour course zeroes in on the key issues that put young drivers and others on the road in jeopardy: inexperience, distractions, peer pressure and a tendency to underestimate risks. This program uses interactive media segments, workbook exercises, class discussions and role playing to help young drivers develop driving skills that will keep them safe while they are behind the wheel.

What participants learn

- Why drivers ages 15 to 24 often underestimate risks
- The effects of inexperience, peer pressure and distractions such as cell phones, text messaging, MP3 players and GPS units
- The dangers of driving with your knees
- Communication skills for assertiveness and being a young leader
- Taking responsibility for passengers

Who would benefit from this course

Teens (15-19), young drivers (20-24), military personnel
