Crashes are the #1 cause of preventable death for teens

Certain situations are especially dangerous for teens:

Nighttime driving

Mile for mile, 16 and 17 year old drivers are significantly more likely to be involved in a fatal crash at night than during the day. Nighttime driving limits aren't curfews; they can help your teen stay safe.

Driving with passengers

Passengers— from other teens to little brothers or sisters—are one of the biggest distractions teens face in the car. Teen passengers directly increase the risk of a fatal crash.*

Your teen may legally be allowed to drive at night and with passengers, but the numbers show these situations are higher risk.

It is up to you to establish and enforce these rules.
